

Chapter 9 Review:

- Rehabilitation care vs Restorative care
- Benefits of exercise
- Ambulation and ambulatory
- Assisting a resident to ambulate
- Assisting a resident to ambulate with a cane, walker, or crutches
- Types of assistive/adaptive devices
- Proper body alignment
- Amputation, phantom sensations, and phantom limb pain
- Prosthesis (amputation and prosthesis care)
- ROM (Review abduction, adduction, extension, flexion, dorsiflexion, rotation, pronation, supination, and opposition)
- Passive ROM (PROM) vs active ROM (AROM)
- Assisting with PROM (moving down the body and how many times ROM is performed on each body part)
- Bowel and bladder training and how the CNA can assist with these